

COMPLAINT FORM

Reporting your situation to us is a worthwhile effort. The information which you provide is entered into a database used by the Office of Financial Regulation to select firms and individuals for examination and review. Many major enforcement actions taken by the Office have been a result of investigations initiated by consumer complaints such as yours.

Experience shows that many consumer complaints do not contain adequate evidence to use as the basis for an action by our agency. Matters which are differences of opinion between parties are difficult to process. The Office is not an adjudicatory body and is unable to render binding decisions when the problem involves verbal differences between parties. The Office may not take administrative action unless it can establish proof to support legal action by the Office. The issuance of an administrative action does not necessarily compel an individual or company to provide restitution to a consumer who has filed a complaint against that individual or company. The Office only has authority to issue administrative actions and seek injunctive relief against violators of Florida Statutes under its jurisdiction.

At the conclusion of the Office's review of your complaint, you may be advised to consider the possibility of initiating an arbitration proceeding or civil litigation, whichever is applicable in your situation. Private causes of action effectively deter abuses and complement the regulatory actions of this Office as well as other regulatory bodies.

Please Read and Sign: The events described in this complaint are as accurate as I can recall. I am filing this complaint to notify the Office of these activities and to request any assistance your office can render. I further understand that a copy of this complaint may be provided to the company against whom I am complaining and that my records within that company may be reviewed by the Office or other agencies which may have jurisdiction in this matter. I understand that the Office does not legally represent individuals in matters that are purely private controversies. I also understand that the Office cannot compel a firm to return my money except in limited instances.
